ERIY attended Musashino Art University in Tokyo and began working as an illustrator when in school. Now a freelance illustrator, Eriy uses a toothpick as her main drawing tool.

Absolutely love this book

I so enjoy this series of coloring books. I love that it is the continuing story of a fantasy land (Cocot) and Elena (the little girl) and her duck Joset. Each of the books is better than the last. In this story, along with illustrations of the land, some holidays (such as Christmas and Halloween) are represented. The book expands the nature of the fantasy land and makes for a cohesive series.

That the artist's work is beautiful and imaginative adds even more. The artist, Eriy, has created her beautiful artwork using ink and a toothpick (lovely story in the first book explains she forgot to get a pen and made do with what she had on hand – toothpicks!) Because of this technique, the lines of the drawings have a varying thickness and the print is lighter in tone than in other coloring books. Once again, there is a map at the front of the book which shows all of the landmarks. There are thumbnails at the end of the book which explain each of the designs and what and where they are in Cocot. There is also a 3D pop-up card at the end of the book. You have to cut it out and color it but thankfully, there are good instructions for the how-to end of it. The book is divided into five chapters: Chapter 1: Peaceful days in the North, Chapter 2: Peaceful days in the South, Chapter 3: Beautiful island scenes, Chapter 4: Good times for Elena and Joset, and Chapter 5: The passage of time in the Secret Forest. There are 64 designs (not including chapter heading illustrations, front pages and maps.) Of these, 16 are spread across two pages. The illustrations within each chapter relates to the subject matter of that chapter. Each of the chapter heading pages includes a lovely two-page spread designs. There are a couple of designs at the front of the book which sit outside of the chapters. These designs are not included in the thumbnails at the back of the book. The book has a brown kraft paper style attached cover. This cover has line drawings on front and back covers which you can color if you wish. The detached dustcover is beautifully illustrated with colorful designs of Cocot. The inside of the dustcover is white. This is what I found when I was coloring in this book and testing the paper with my coloring medium. 64 Beautiful designs set in the fantasy land of Cocot. There are 16 two-page designs spreads. There are additional map and chapter heading illustrations and other bonus images to color. Designs are printed on both sides of the page. Paper is cream colored, heavyweight, smooth and non-perforated. Sewn Binding. Designs merge into the binding area and two-page spreads cross over the binding as well. The book opens fairly flat for coloring but a little effort is needed to color into the binding edge. Alcohol-based markers bleed through this paper. I don't suggest this medium as it will ruin the design on the back of the page. If you decide to use this style of markers, I suggest a blotter page of card stock or a couple of pages of heavyweight paper under your working page to keep ink from seeping further in to the book. Water-based markers and India ink pens left slight shadows on the back of the page. I could see them and it bothered me enough not to want to use these for coloring my designs. Gel pens did not bleed through but required additional drying time. Colored pencils worked fairly well with this paper. I tested both oil and wax based pencils and had a little trouble blending with both. Due to the smooth texture of the paper, when I used a blending stick, there was a slight amount of smear versus blend. I found that wet blending medium worked better for me. Otherwise, colored pencils worked well. Pigment went on deep and thick and I was able to easily layer multiple colors.

I love Romantic Country (the first one) so I was excited when this one came out! I had it on pre-order. This book is just as amazing as the first one. Full of quaint country scenes with lots of opportunities to add color. Each page is simply beautiful. Order it, you will not be disappointed!

Summary:"Romantic Country" features 84 pages of illustrations, 5 pages of introductory material, a 5 page index, 2 additional pages of information, and a set of 3D coloring cards. It measures 10 inches square and is sewn into a colorable brown paper cover with a removeable dust jacket. Featuring a variety of line drawings, this book is appropriate for adult colorists on all skill levels.Paper:The paper contained in this book is cream colored and medium thick(think scrapbooking weight). All pages are double sided and non-perforated. Dry mediums are okay to use, but wet products will bleed through and ruin the back of your picture. As always, be sure to place several blotter sheets under your current project to prevent color transfer.Artwork:As implied by the title, "Romantic Country" mainly focuses on scenes from the islands scattered throughout the imaginary land of Cocot. It's broken into 5 "chapters": "Peaceful Days in the North", "Peaceful Days in the South", "Beautiful Island Scenes", "Good Times for Elena and Joset", and "The Passage of Time in the Peaceful Forest". Inside each you'll see themed artwork: Christmas and Halloween scenes, storefronts, castles, gardens, animals, mermaids, fairies, and more. Most pictures run to the edges of each page, and there are approx. 15 double spreads included(these do run into the binding, so removal isn't recommended). Detail level varies slightly between images, and print quality is nicely done. Picture completion time should range from 4-9 hours(may be slightly different for each individual). Overall, this is a beautifully illustrated book. It would be best suited for fans of the artist's' previous work or colorists who enjoy romantic/whimsical imagery.

This is one of the most beautiful designed books I have seen. I was so pleased to see the fantastic artistry of the illustrator Eriy. Yes, there is detail in each drawing but that is what gives it its charm. One cannot help but feel like they are travelling in this world and seeing the places of beauty, how the people live in their time. Each turn of the page had me oohing, smiling and wanting to put myself in the picture so I could enjoy each place or town, or village, or land or the people themselves. It is quaint and unforgettable. It is quiet and full of graciousness. It makes me feel a strong feeling of contentment. The children and the animals are delightful. The activities of this fantasy place is joyful and full of things to look at. Just think...when you put your hand forth on a page, you will enter 'colors' of YOUR choice to make this land come alive. I guarantee you will not be disappointed. You will laugh seeing a large pig riding making his rounds on a business of selling ice cream while he is peddling his bike. There is a beautiful scene of a farm, pictures of Christmas times. This book is choice. YOU WILL LOVE IT TOO !!!
