Maybe Memphis (Bishop Family Book 3)

Synopsis

Gray Kennedy had just completed an eight-year term in the U.S. Army and was ready to return home to Chicago. He had to make one quick stop in Memphis before he could be reunited with his family. For the last few years, he had held on to a promise that he'd make sure Jane Bishop and her daughter were doing well once he got back to the states. He had no friends or family in Memphis, and his only plan was to get to town, check on Jane, and head straight home to Chicago. He had no idea what he would find when he got there. He certainly wasn't expecting it to be love.

Gray was the perfect hero. An Army veteran who had served doing EOD (Explosive Ordnance Disposal) and now was ready to start his new life, but was compelled to first to check up on Jane Bishop, an Army widow. I loved the way the circumstances worked out that Jane thought he was the potential tenant for her apartment. And Gray's tender heart that desired to help the widow of a stranger. The gentle attraction between the two that changed the course of their lives. This review was originally posted on AmongTheReads.net

I love all of Brooke St. James' books (and I've read almost all of them!) The Bishop Family series is probably my favorite though! Wonderful light reading, a bit of history, fun to watch the love of two people grow through the generations! The characters are well developed, they have good boundaries, the male leads are respectful and caring, the relationships are passionate but it is so well done. The characters all hold to their personal boundaries that anything beyond kissing is for marriage, and the moments of intimacy between the characters hold to that without shame. Even after the wedding their story exudes the beauty of honoring, loving and enjoying each other without being TMI. These books are ones I won't mind sharing with my daughter's when they start to explore the Christian Romance genre. There are no long sermons about purity, no shameful messages. Just warm and sweet love stories that leave you satisfied with a happy ending.

I'm absolutely crazy about the Bishop Family series! I've fallen in love with each character and entranced with their stories! If you love sweet, tender, numerous and clean romances this series is perfect for you! This will be a series I'll read again and again when I need to smile and escape into the lovely world of fiction!

As always Brooke hits it out of the park with "Maybe Memphis". I loved this book one of my favorite parts in it was when they refused to do the show if they had to kiss other people. I just loved that for some reason. Probably because I'd be the same way they were. And Gray totally swoon worthy leading man...

This series is the first I've read by this author and I absolutely love it. She creates characters that feel like friends. These books are sweet romances that flow like fairytales. I enjoy being happy from beginning to end. They are just great stories and I highly recommend them.

I just love, love, love this series ! Such sweet stories-sooooo romantic. Wonderfully written with very believable characters. Grab the hot chocolate, a cuddly blanket, and a comfy chair because you won't want to stop till you finish them all!

An entertaining story. A clean, fun story. I enjoyed the little girl's interactions & the humor she added to the story. I enjoy reading stories that include military men who succeed in spite of their struggles.

This book was so romantic and sweet and funny and adorable and I could go on for hours if you'd let me, but I'm sure you've got the point. I couldn't keep the smile off my face as I read and as always, the St. James's characters were so lovable (mostly because they had common sense). The book was a pleasure and deserves five stars and more!
